The world's waiting -
get busy living

Welcome to Rubicon 3

Growing up as a young boy, I was entranced by the books of Enid Blyton, Willard Price and any number of other adventures. Hornblower, the Famous Five, Swallows and Amazons - these were the characters and tales that I lived and breathed, transported off to a world of adventure, of endless possibility and of the constant overcoming of challenges through the brilliance of the human spirit and derring-do. Hearing "I want to be an adventurer when I grow up!" wasn't uncommon.

Real life intervenes for most of us, most likely did for you, and as you know childhood dreams of adventure are replaced by building a career, paying the mortgage and the multitude of other 'grown-up' things that are the necessity of daily life. I decided that in my mid thirties that I had been doing an awful lot of 'growing up' and very little of the adventuring I had so dreamt about and needed to start living the life less ordinary. In short order the job was packed in, the house sold and via an overland crossing of Russia, Kazakhstan, Siberia, Mongolia and China I found myself working at sea. Roles as a charter skipper, instructor, on a round the world race boat and finally as an engineer on a superyacht followed, until what ultimately draws all sailors back to land took charge, and marriage to the woman I love and a family followed.

As I recounted adventures to my friends back on land one day, I realised I wanted to find a way to help others come and experience some proper adventure for themselves and Rubicon 3 was born. Rubicon to pay homage to the phrase "Crossing the Rubicon", that age old expression of irrevocably taking the plunge and committing to something heart and soul. 3 refers to SAIL | TRAIN | EXPLORE, the three tenets I believe make for a great sailing adventure: the sailing itself, top quality training, so you can be fully involved in the adventure rather than just a passenger, and getting ashore and having time to explore somewhere new and wonderful.

That was back in 2013 and in the intervening years, Rubicon 3 has rightly taken its place as Europe's #1 people to sail with for adventure. As well as seeking out dramatic, spectacular routes across oceans, up into the Arctic and through the Caribbean, we have always based our approach on one of total respect for you. We know how much goes into bringing up children, or how hard it is to learn the skills and build a career. We know we couldn't do your job, and we don't expect you to be able to do ours - so there is no pressure to know anything or to perform. Instead, we are proud to be able to welcome you into our world and we will give you all the guidance, patience and support you need to learn some new skills or develop existing ones. We are here to do all that we can to ensure that for however long you are onboard, you have an adventure worthy of your dreams as a child.

This brochure will tell you all you need to know about Rubicon 3, the different regions we sail to and the different types of sailing, from coastal to offshore and our unique Passage Making Masterclasses. The team are always here to help you with all the questions you have so never hesitate to get in touch. Here's to those long dreamt of adventures coming true this year!

What is a Rubicon 3 Adventure?

Unique, real life adventures

If you're like us, you've wanted to sail the Atlantic Ocean, head to places like the Faroe Islands and Norway, weave through icebergs and anchor off deserted treasure islands. You'll also have found that you can't do it without a lot of time, money, skill and a supporting cast of friends and fellow sailors. Yes, you can do most of this on cruise ship, but to us that's a bit like flying over a mountain and claiming to be a mountaineer.

No previous experience required

There is something magical, life affirming and unique about being part of the crew of a yacht which sails to these remote, beautiful and exciting destinations - and this is what Rubicon 3 allows you to do. Using only the best skippers out there with enormous experience of sailing around the world's oceans, and with powerful but hugely safe 60' yachts, we ensure these adventures are accessible to a wide range of people, regardless of their previous sailing experience.

Come with the right attitude - you're part of the crew

These are genuine, off the beaten track sailing adventures. You'll be a fully involved crew member, helping to navigate, sail the boat, cook some meals and keep everything clean and tidy. Things break, the weather doesn't play ball, local rules can change - it's real adventure sailing. If you want a packaged holiday look elsewhere.

Run by the #1 adventure sailors

Other than the routes that few other sailing companies have the boats or skills to take on, the Rubicon 3 focus is on hands-on participation in sailing, offering you a real and authentic involvement in the adventure. You'll be route planning, navigating, working the lines, helming, cooking in the galley, and generally contributing to the day-to-day running of the boat. As a result, you end each adventure not only with memories of a lifetime but with a real sense of accomplishment and camaraderie with your team - you were not handed this on a plate - you made it happen.

A woman with dark hair, wearing sunglasses, a blue and white patterned scarf, a light blue long-sleeved shirt, and black overalls, stands on the deck of a white boat. She is holding a red rope. The boat is on a calm body of water, likely a fjord, with steep, rocky mountains in the background. The sky is blue with scattered white clouds. The water reflects the surrounding landscape.

“I wanted freedom, open air, adventure. I found it on the sea.”

Alain Gerbault

Why Rubicon 3 is rated #1 for Adventure Sailing

Because we have the most exciting routes ... to the most beautiful places.

Sail with us across the Arctic Circle from Norway to Iceland, or right up to the polar ice cap north of Svalbard. Maybe it's discovering the islands of the Caribbean or sailing right across the Atlantic ocean. Rubicon 3 lead the world in the routes, expeditions and adventures we run.

The expeditions, most of which are 12 days long, attract men and women from around the world, many having little or no sailing experience and many joining solo. Although it's an active holiday it's not overly physical, with the eldest participant to date being 72!

... & you're fully involved - there are no passengers.

Even if you're a complete novice, from the moment you step on board we encourage you to get fully involved. The skipper and mate will explain the basics and before you know it you'll be driving the boat off the dock, navigating the yacht as it winds through islands and dropping the anchor for another night under the stars. Rubicon 3 are unrivalled in how much we get you involved, and the quality of teaching you get onboard.

Exploring ashore is a massive part of the adventure.

A huge part of the adventure is sailing to somewhere new and jumping off the yacht to explore. Sailors have always been some of the world's great explorers and these adventures put you into the thick of the discovery. You will discover stunning places far off the beaten track that only a privileged few ever get to see.

All run with the famous Rubicon 3 ethos.

Even amongst all the excitement, there are never raised voices, just bundles of encouragement and quality sailing instruction. We don't want to blow our own trumpet, but no feedback comes close to what Rubicon 3 get.

... & with an unrivalled focus on safety.

Our rigged 60 foot yachts are legendarily tough and with an unmatched bluewater pedigree. They have full Category 0 (unlimited range offshore) commercial coding and every bit of safety equipment and communications imaginable.

“Fill your life with adventures, not things.
Have stories to tell, not stuff to show.”

AUTHENTIC ADVENTURE

Sailing with Rubicon 3 is an exciting and immersive experience that involves genuine, unscripted, and spontaneous adventure, exploring the raw and unfiltered world under sail.

Unlike pre-packaged or staged adventures, we cannot guarantee you an exact itinerary or that there won't be some challenges along the way. We work every day with the sea and nature, always prioritizing exploration and meaningful experiences.

What it means for you:

Get ready for genuine encounters: You'll be having real interactions with locals, fellow sailors, and the environment - and not just photographing them. You'll likely be stepping outside your comfort zone, engaging with diverse cultures and people from all different backgrounds and you'll value all your understanding and empathy as you try to find supplies and help others in need.

There are going to be unplanned moments: We plan and prepare carefully, but authentic adventures such as these still have a great deal of spontaneity. We'll embrace unexpected opportunities and take on unforeseen challenges, making each adventure unique and memorable. In this environment, nature becomes both a playground and a teacher, offering breathtaking experiences but also valuable lessons.

Being part of a team: There's no chef, no cleaner, no pre packaged tour. These are authentic expeditions and passages, exactly as full time adventurers participate in. You'll help cook, keep things shipshape, find supplies and more. You are integral to the expedition.

It's a true adventure

HOW TO PLAN YOUR ADVENTURE

It's never too early to start planning your next sailing adventure with Rubicon 3

FOLLOW THESE STEPS TO FIND YOUR PERFECT TRIP

1) Search by Region

In the summer, we sail in the high latitudes such as Norway, Iceland and the Faroe Islands. Then in autumn and winter we are down in the lower latitudes such as Madeira and Morocco and across the Atlantic to the Caribbean.

2) Search by Sailing Type

We categorise our trips as either Coastal, Offshore or Passage Making Masterclass. Coastal trips are shorter distances, usually line of sight navigation and hopping from new place to new place each day, with a focus on time to head ashore and explore. Anyone can join these trips and they are perfect for total beginners.

Offshore routes head hundreds of miles out to sea. You can cross the Arctic Circle at sea, sail from one Caribbean region to another or sail right across the Atlantic Ocean. You can join most of these as a beginner, but we do recommend having some experience before you head too far offshore.

Our Passage Making Masterclasses were designed for those with some experience and qualifications who are looking to build skills and experience and really make that big jump in seamanship. For the Masterclass, you have to have RYA Day Skipper or above, or international equivalents / experience.

3) All our Trips

Whichever route you like, click on its Dates & Prices to check exact start and end points, and when you should join and leave the boat. Everything's included, from all your meals onboard, your training and qualifications, lifejackets to foul weather clothing. All you need is a sleeping bag, flights to and from the boat and we'd recommend some sailing insurance.

LEADING INSTRUCTORS

Rubicon 3 skippers stand out due to their unparalleled real-world sailing skills and experience, setting them apart from many sailing school instructors or amateur sailors. These skippers are not just sailors; they are seasoned explorers who have mastered the art of navigating the vast and challenging oceans of the globe.

Their expertise isn't limited to the theoretical knowledge one might acquire in a classroom; it is born from hands-on experience in some of the most demanding sailing environments on Earth. They've faced and overcome the unpredictable nature of open seas, harsh weather conditions, and navigational challenges that require a deep understanding of the sea and the world at large.

EVERYONE HELPS PLAN THE ROUTE

On a Rubicon 3 adventure, daily route planning is collaborative and dynamic. Each day, the crew gathers to discuss and decide on where to go that day, ensuring great teamwork and shared responsibility.

This approach allows everyone to contribute their ideas and learn from the instructors and each other, making it a truly immersive experience. You'll develop your skills and understanding of both sailing and navigation.

WHO ELSE JOINS?

PEOPLE VERY SIMILAR TO YOU!

if this type of adventure holiday appeals to you, you are going to find that the others are like minded souls. Most crew would not describe themselves as sailors, but rather as someone who sails occasionally or who would like to learn to sail and wants a genuine adventure away from the usual touristy routes.

90% + of our crew join solo, so if you are coming alone, it is a brilliant environment. Average crew age is 50, with most crew being in the 35 to 70 age range. All ages above 18 are welcome though, with those aged 16 -17 welcome with an accompanying adult.

There's a very even mix of men and women and previous sailing experience ranges for the most part from none to some. You really do not have to be a skilled sailor to join these adventures. They are designed to help you come and take part, learn the skills and immerse yourself in a spectacular sailing holiday.

WHAT'S THE FOOD LIKE?

WE REALLY GO FOR IT!

Eating well onboard a yacht is essential, and we're only really limited by what we can buy in local markets or catch with our fishing rod. As much as possible we try to stay away from the stereotypes of pasta and pies, although they do make for brilliant 'storm' food, if we're on an offshore crossing and things are looking rough.

Breakfast

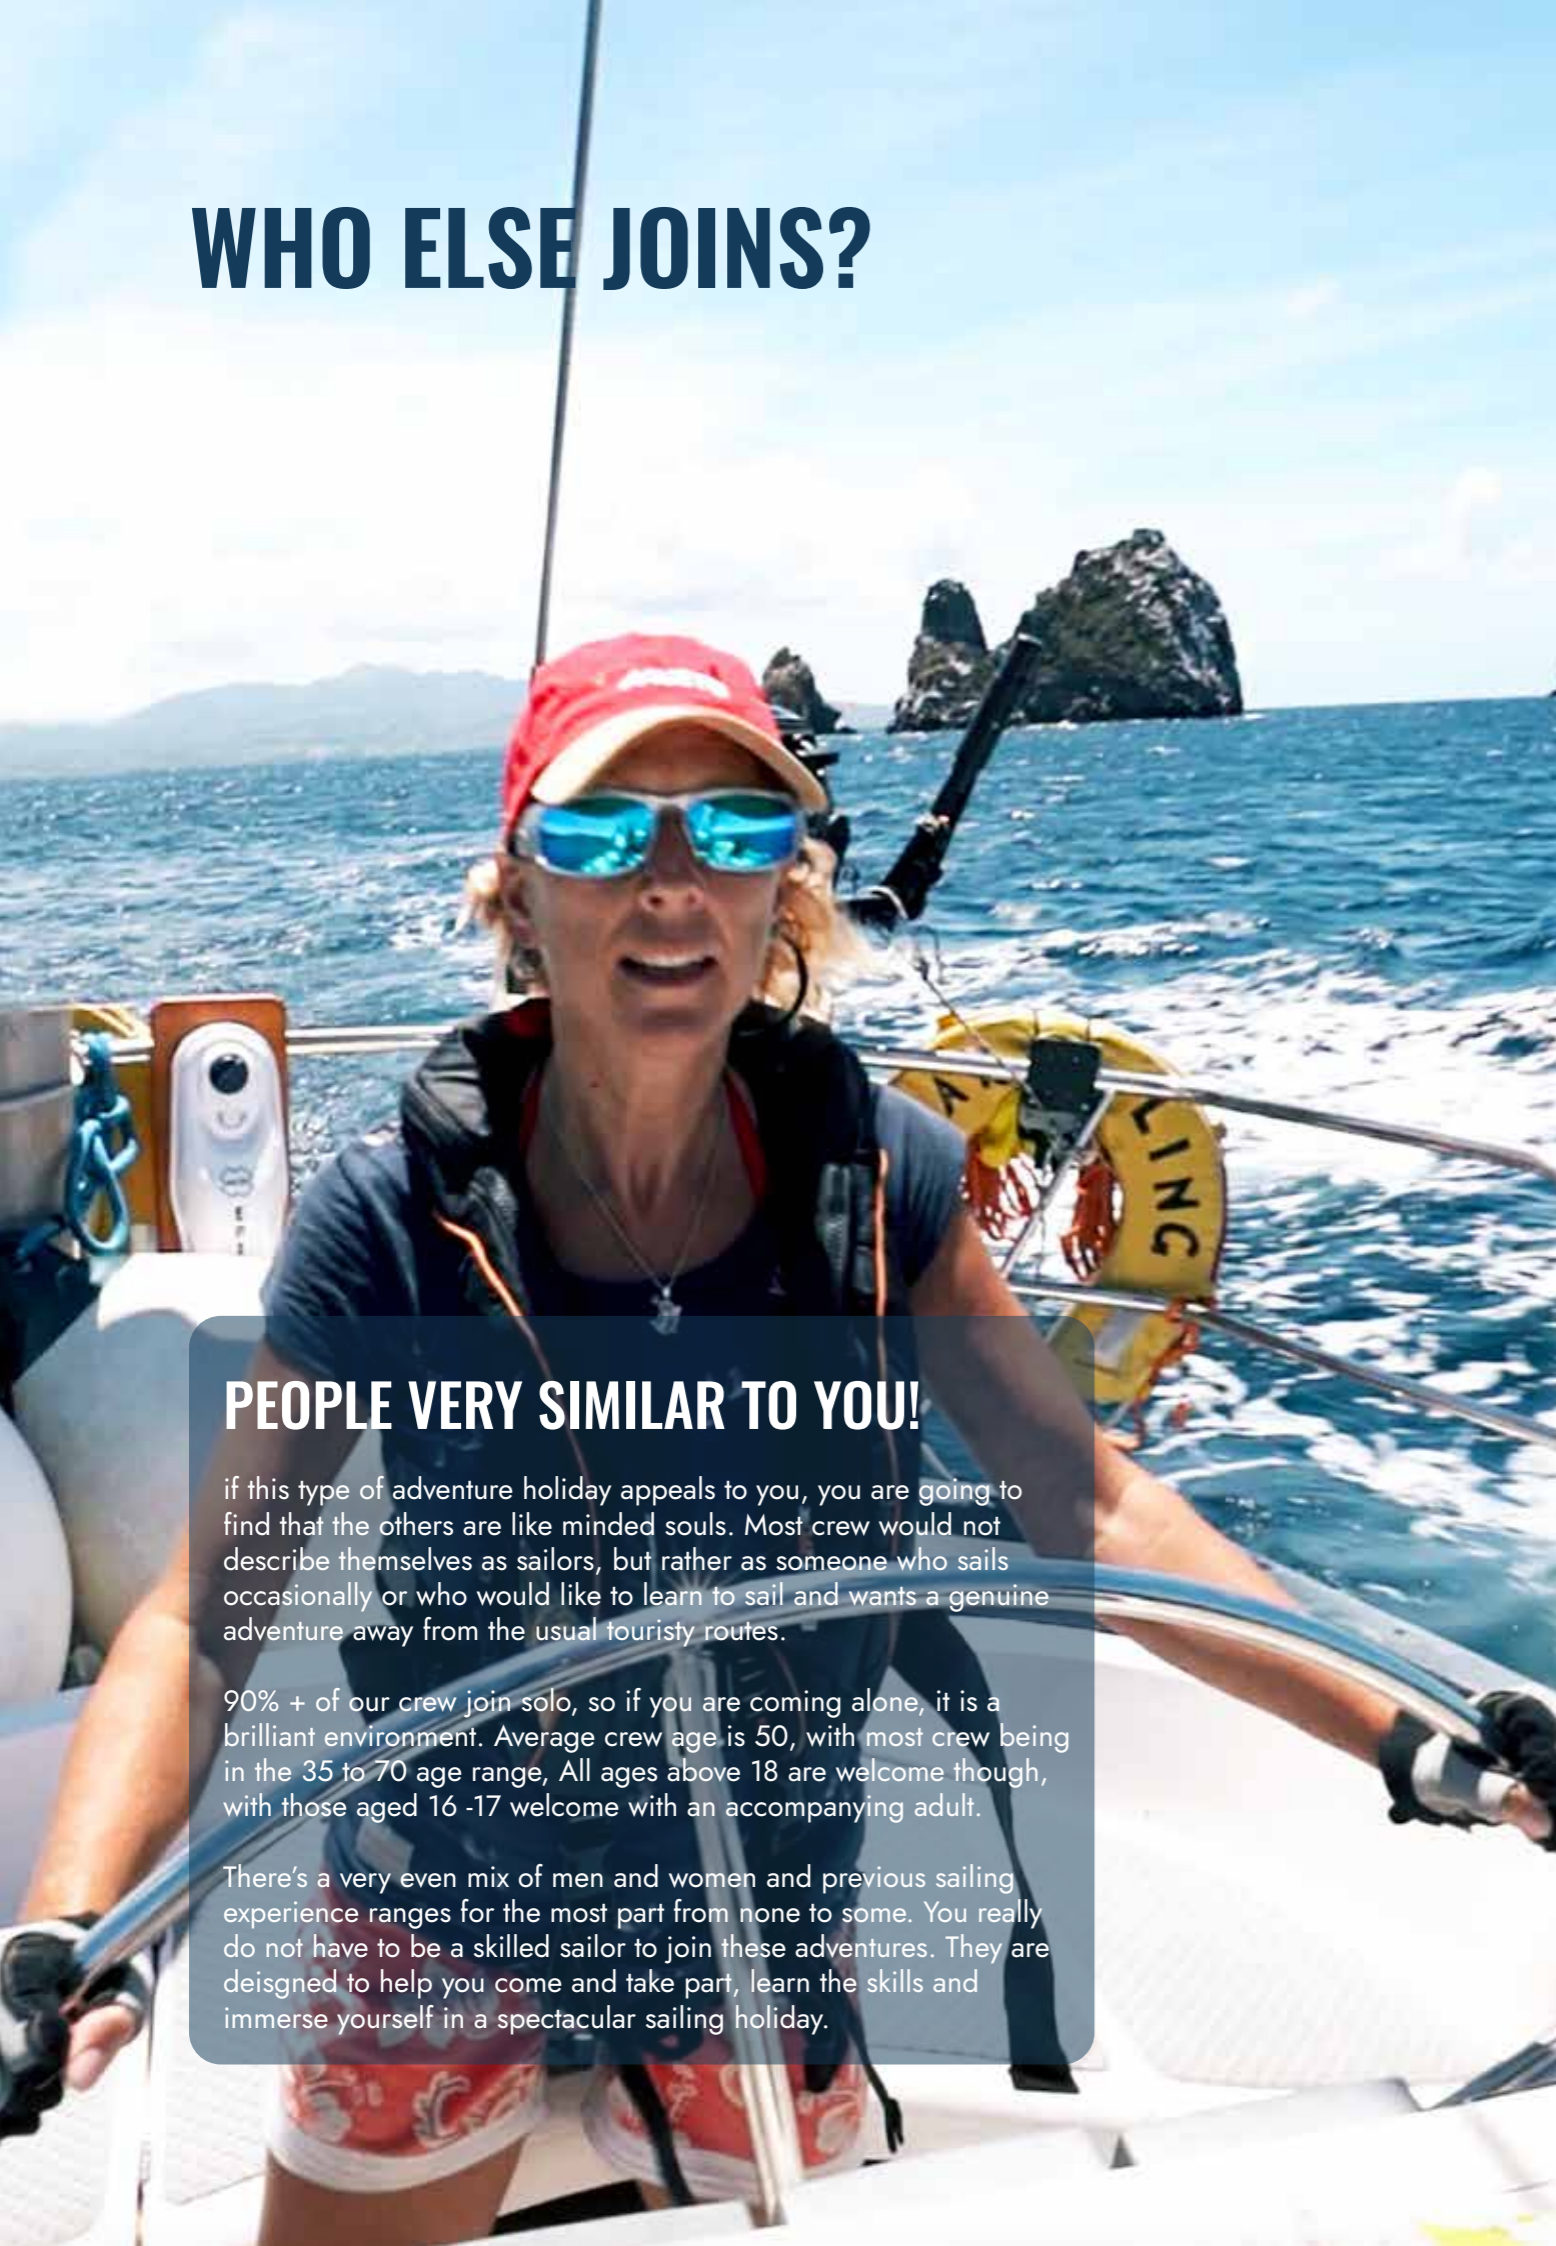

Usually we will alternate between a hot breakfast such as eggs and bacon or porridge one day, and a more continental style breakfast of toast and cereal the next. There's always lots of tea and coffee to go with it

Lunch

This will be something quite simple, as we want to focus on the sailing during the day. Expect maybe hot soup and a sandwich or a substantial salad or something similar

Dinner

This is when we can really go for it, and we'll go for everything from a full roast, with beef, potatoes, veg and gravy to curries, fresh fish and much more

WILDLIFE TO LOOK OUT FOR

On these sailing adventures, you will see a wonderful range of wildlife in its natural habitat. Lovers of seabirds will find nowhere better than the Faroe Islands and the world famous Westmanna Bird Cliffs. Whales are found on the Atlantic crossings and the route from Norway to Svalbard which is also where you can find polar bears, walrus and reindeer.

THE YACHTS

LEGENDARY 60' RTW YACHTS

Rubicon 3 yachts are some of the most rugged, safe, offshore and expedition yachts you will ever sail in. Based on the Nicholson 58, they were originally commissioned by Sir Robin Knox Johnson to race around the world.

They are wonderfully easy to sail, yet can soak up whatever mother nature throws at them. Unlike modern cruising yachts that are mostly designed for the Mediterranean and the charter market, these yachts are true blue water thoroughbreds. They have each circumnavigated the world between three and four times, and have been on so many adventures beyond that.

The yachts, each named after a bird, are instantly recognisable and loved the world over, with everyone having their favourite. They are all commercially coded to Category 0, meaning that they are licensed to sail unlimited distances and for unlimited time offshore. They are packed full of safety equipment and our, in our considered opinion as good and as safe as it is possible to be at sea.

Our 3 Golden Rules

1. No Shouting

In sailing, good communication is essential, and shouting can have negative effects on crew morale, performance, and safety. Shouting can create an atmosphere of tension and apprehension, making it hard for the crew to work effectively. It can also lead to miscommunication and misunderstandings, which can be dangerous, especially in emergencies. Shouting can also lead to errors, reduced focus, and diminished confidence, which can impact performance.

So why is there so much shouting in sailing? Shouting often happens in sailing when instructors or skipper are stressed, worried, or feel like they have lost control. With Rubicon 3 skippers, you are training with true experts and you'll find they never shout because they have absolute control of the situation. It also makes for a much nicer environment on board.

2. Never be afraid to ask a question

Asking questions is crucial in sailing, not only for safety but also for learning and working effectively as a team. It fosters an environment where everyone feels comfortable seeking clarification and sharing information. Our approach ensures that all crew members have a clear understanding of their roles and the tasks at hand, leading to safer and more efficient sailing. Whether you're a beginner or an experienced sailor, it's important to feel comfortable asking questions to enhance your understanding and contribute effectively to the journey.

3. Never take a job off someone else.

"Never take a job off someone else" in sailing is not just about respecting roles but is crucial for learning and development. In training, it's essential for learners to have the time to think, make mistakes, and learn from them without someone immediately stepping in to correct or take over, even with the intention of being helpful. This practice allows learners to gain confidence, understand the consequences of their actions, and develop problem-solving skills. It encourages a deeper understanding of sailing tasks and procedures. Mistakes are viewed as learning opportunities, fostering an environment where everyone can grow and improve at their own pace, essential for building competent and self-reliant sailors.

Rubicon 3 is a strictly no smoking environment. No cigarettes, cigars, vapes, pipes, rollies or anything like it!

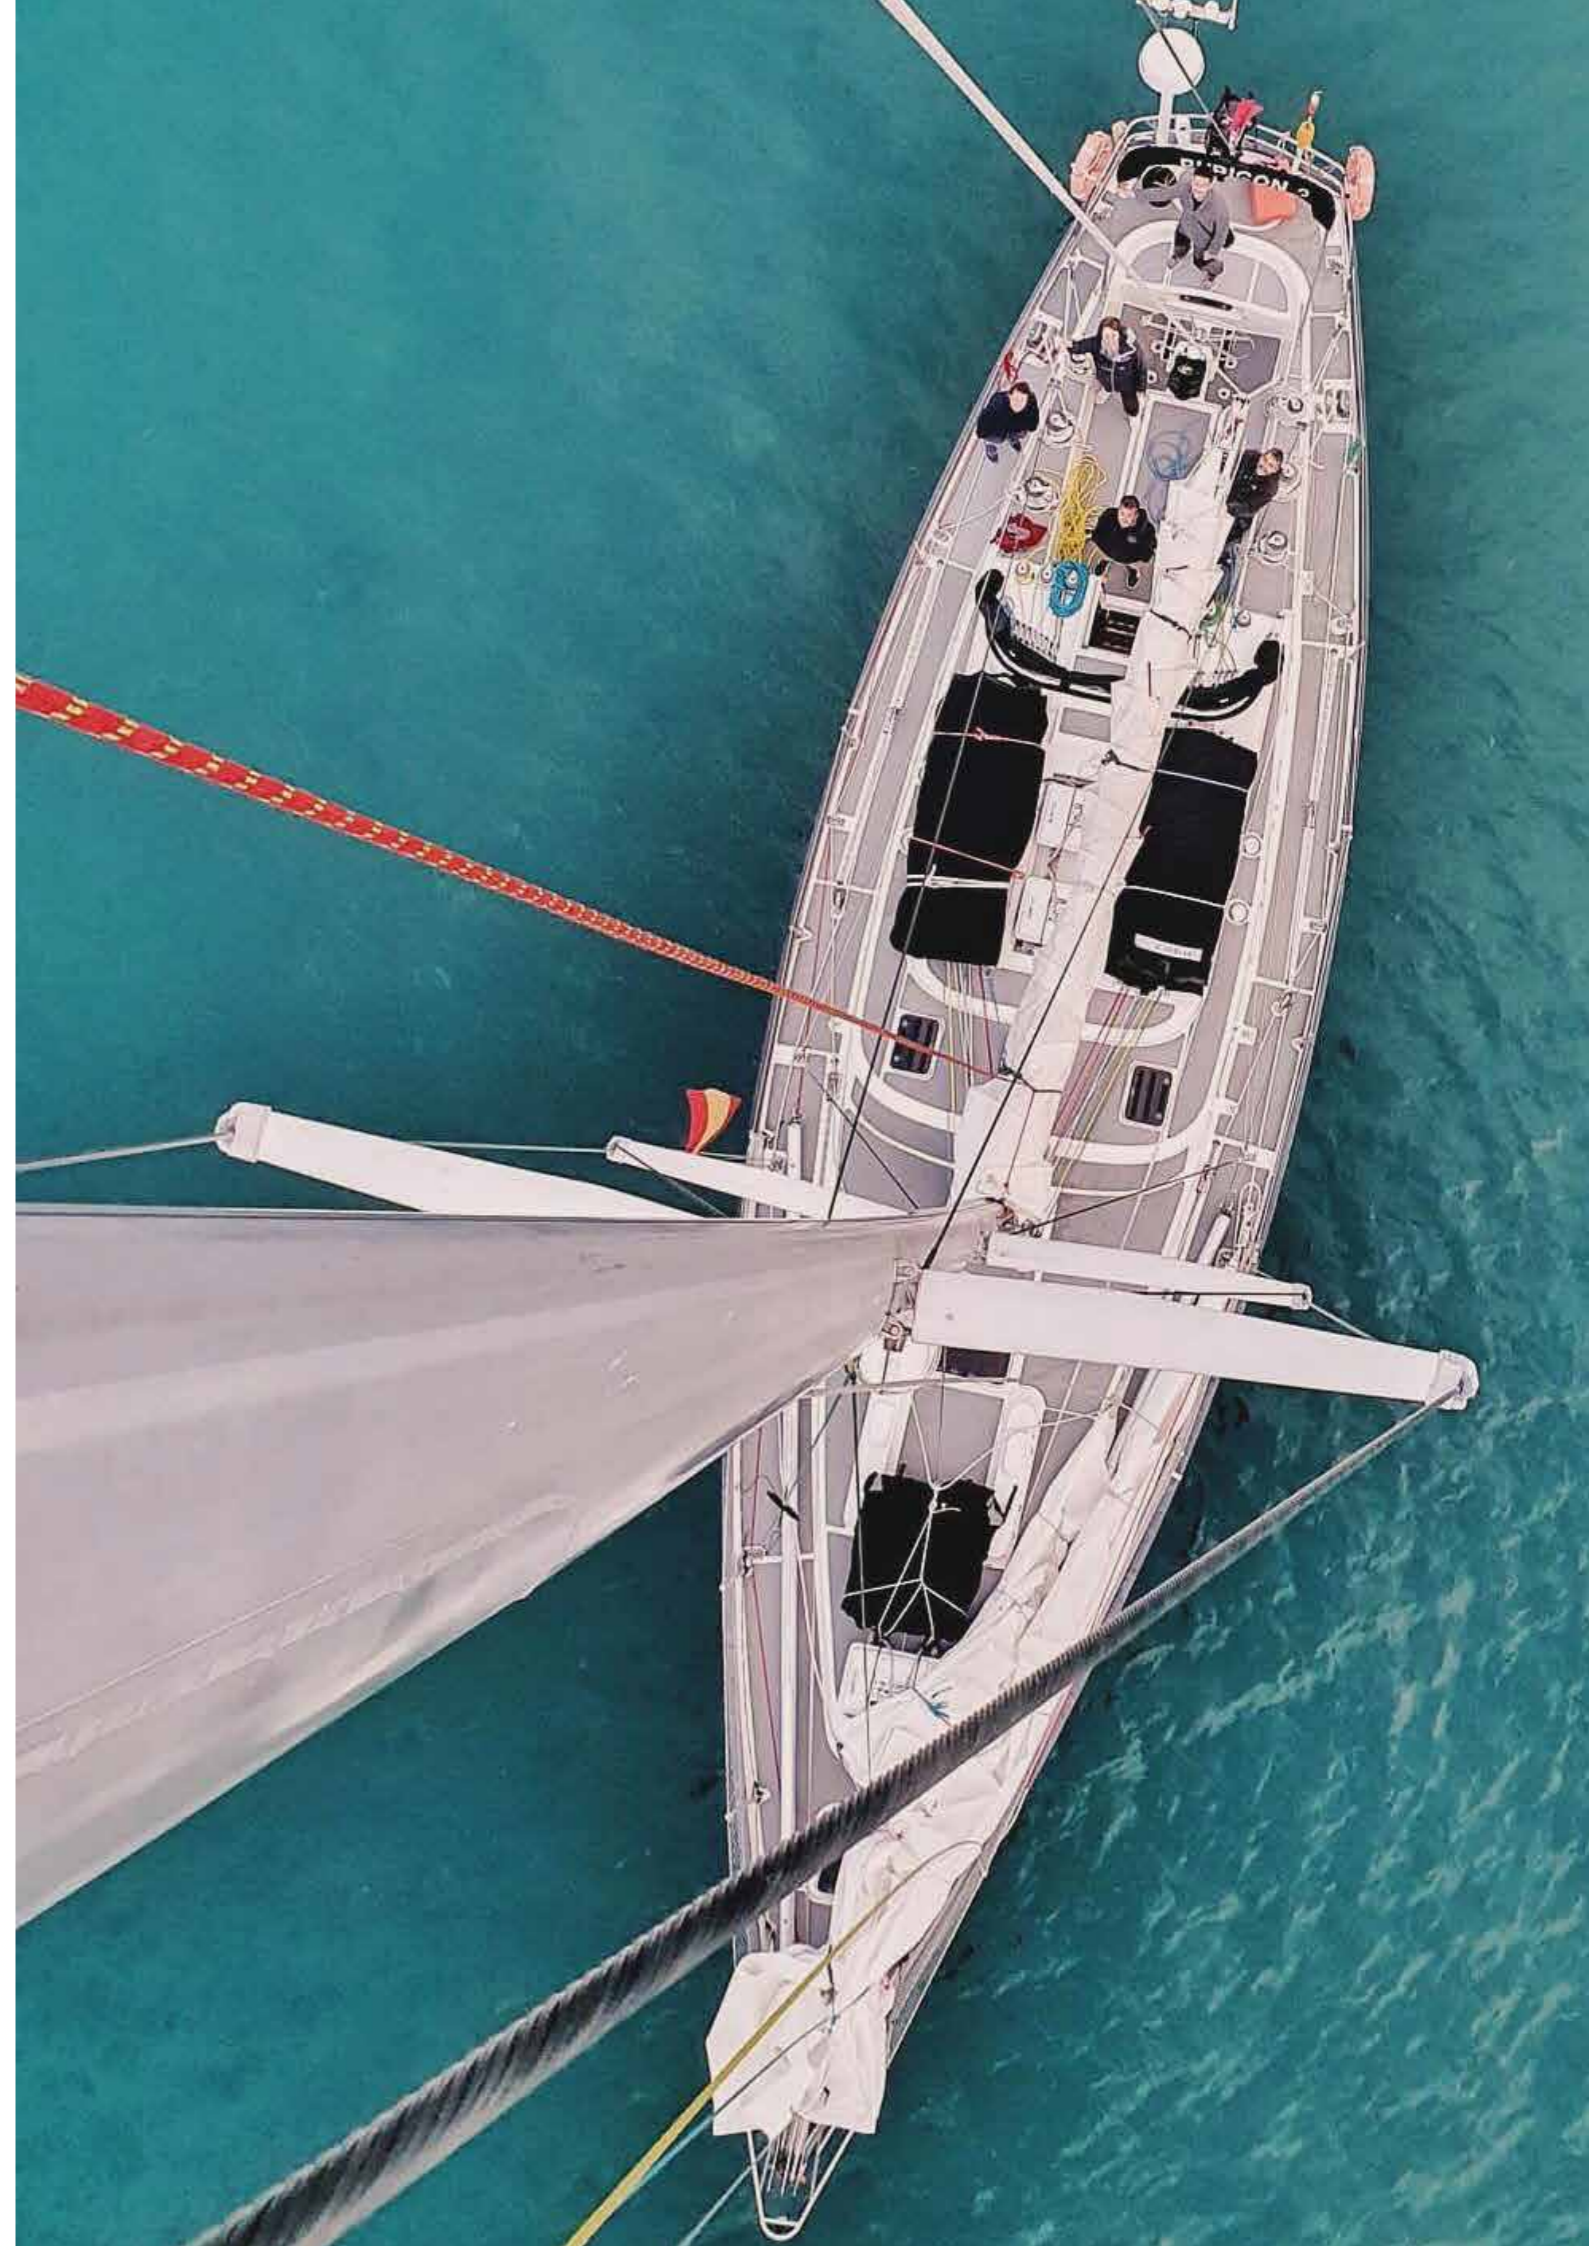

We charge 5% less than we would... here's why

As you embark on your sailing adventure with us, you'll experience the unrivalled dedication and expertise of our crew. They are so much more than just staff; they are passionate seafarers who have devoted their careers to delivering unforgettable sailing adventures. It is a tough, challenging career that not many could do - and you'll find them genuinely inspiring people.

While your payment for your time with Rubicon 3 covers everything, customers often inquire about tipping and gratuities and the best way to show their appreciation for the skipper and mate's dedication.

This is why we charge 5% less than we would. If you are inspired by our crew and what they have done for you, it allows you to pay a discretionary tip as a real sign of appreciation. Entirely voluntary, if you would like to do it we suggest between 5-10% of your booking cost. This gesture of kindness, appreciation and support is a really powerful way to acknowledge the effort and devotion of those who have made your voyage memorable.

Remember, the choice to tip and the amount you wish to offer is entirely up to you, based on your experience and satisfaction. Should you choose to extend them a tip, this should be done in person at the time. From everyone at Rubicon 3, thank you so much if you choose to do so.

THE ARCTIC: ICELAND AND NORWAY

The high latitudes produce some of the most exciting and beautiful sailing and exploring you will ever get. These adventures are a chance to discover and explore countries such as Iceland, Norway, Svalbard and Greenland in a way you simply never can do from land.

Run exclusively in the summer months when the weather and temperature are at their most amenable and the midnight sun gives us almost 24 hours of daylight, the region is surprisingly accessible for everyone, and not just hardy adventurers.

The further north we go, and the more remote we get, it is about anchoring, heading ashore in the RIB and stopping in the occasional port or harbour when we pass them. Norway's Lofoten Islands are stunningly beautiful and very accessible. Iceland is much more rugged and wild, while Svalbard and Greenland are out there as true sub-polar adventures.

Wherever you choose to go, if you love snow capped mountains, vast fjords, stunningly beautiful nature and getting far away from the usual tourist infrastructure then the Arctic Circle, Iceland and Norway region is one you will love.

Trolls, Giants & Elves: Scotland & the Faroes

Discover some of the world's wildest and most beautiful islands as we sail between the west coast of Scotland and the volcanic archipelago of the Faroe Islands. Scotland is a world of blissful anchorages, charming harbours, world famous whisky distilleries and thousands of years of history. The Faroe Islands, located in between Scotland, Iceland and Norway are a visually breath taking archipelago, with towering cliffs, surrounded by puffins, petrels, whales and dolphins. Grass covered houses sit side by side with iconic light houses and fascinating habitations. In between the Faroes and Scotland we have an exhilarating 36 hour offshore sail, giving a unique insight into ocean passages.

Celestial Navigation: Spain to the Canaries

This Atlantic adventure sail is an achievement of a lifetime, sailing from Spain to the Canaries using just celestial navigation and no GPS! Start with a two day theory course taught by Rubicon 3 founder Bruce Jacobs in Vigo, Spain. Then jump on our 60' expedition yacht for the thousand nautical miles of open ocean sailing from the stunning Galician coast of northwest Spain, just south of the Bay of Biscay, all the way to Gran Canaria via a stop in the UNESCO biosphere of Lanzarote. Along the way, you'll experience the challenge and thrill of being far out to sea and the chance to navigate using just the sun, moon, stars and planets. No prior knowledge of celestial navigation is needed. This is the finest way to learn celestial navigation there is.

CARIBBEAN AND THE AMERICAS

The high latitudes produce some of the most exciting and beautiful sailing and exploring you will ever get. These adventures are a chance to discover and explore countries such as Iceland, Norway, Svalbard and Greenland in a way you simply never can do from land.

Run exclusively in the summer months when the weather and temperature are at their most amenable and the midnight sun gives us almost 24 hours of daylight, the region is surprisingly accessible for everyone, and not just hardy adventurers.

The further north we go, and the more remote we get, it is about anchoring, heading ashore in the RIB and stopping in the occasional port or harbour when we pass them. Norway's Lofoten Islands are stunningly beautiful and very accessible. Iceland is much more rugged and wild, while Svalbard and Greenland are out there as true sub-polar adventures.

Wherever you choose to go, if you love snow capped mountains, vast fjords, stunningly beautiful nature and getting far away from the usual tourist infrastructure then the Arctic Circle, Iceland and Norway region is one you will love.

The Grenadines: St Lucia to Grenada

When you think of idyllic adventure sailing in tropical waters, it doesn't get much better than The Windward Islands. This voyage begins and ends on the beautiful island of St Lucia, renowned for its towering Pitons and walk in volcano! Once onboard, you'll set sail south for St Vincent and the Grenadines, an island group much sought after by the rich and famous (most notably Princess Margaret) for its stunning isles including Bequia, Mustique and the awesome Tobago Cays. Here you can swim with turtles off powder white sand beaches, chilling out at shabby chic beach bars and generally living the dream. This memorable adventure can sail as far south as the spice island of Grenada, known for its pristine rainforest and lakes, and vibrant Caribbean culture, before returning to St Lucia..

RORC Caribbean 600

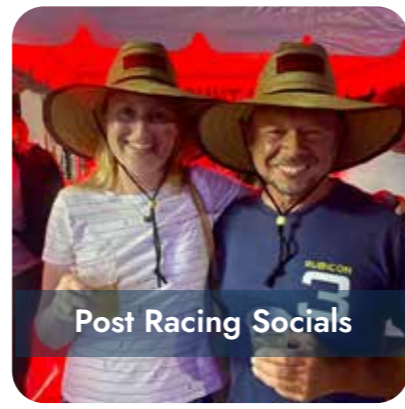

The RORC Caribbean 600 has become an offshore racing classic, mentioned in the same breath as the Rolex Fastnet, the Rolex Sydney – Hobart and Newport-Bermuda as a “must do” race. The consistent trade winds make for fabulous racing conditions and the 600nm course ties the fleet in a knot around the leeward islands. Starting in Antigua it takes the fleet as far north as St Maarten and as far south as Guadeloupe, with all but one rounding mark being an island. The RORC Caribbean 600 race is designed to be an offshore yacht race in idyllic sailing conditions with beautiful scenery at every turn.

ENGLAND & SCOTLAND

Sailing in England and Scotland offers a unique and picturesque journey, giving you some of the most enchanting sailing and exploration experiences you can find. These voyages provide an opportunity to discover and explore the rich history, cultural heritage, and natural beauty of England and Scotland from a perspective that one cannot get from land.

Usually taken in the summer months when the weather is favorable and the days are longer, these sailing adventures are accessible to everyone, including non-experienced sailors. The mild climate, compared to the Arctic's high latitudes, makes for a comfortable journey, allowing sailors to enjoy the scenery and the sea.

Sailing along the coastlines of England and Scotland is to be exploring remote areas, anchoring in secluded locations, exploring ashore, and visiting beautiful ports and harbors along the way. Scotland is famous for its remote beauty and wild landscapes, including the Hebrides, Shetland, and Orkney Islands. There is something truly rewarding about sailing in these waters. If you enjoy the sight of rolling hills, rugged coastlines, ancient ruins, and getting off the beaten track, then sailing in England and Scotland will undoubtedly capture your heart.

Scotland's Hebrides & Attempt on St Kilda

The Hebridian islands off Scotland's west coast make for one of the most beautiful cruising grounds in the world. We only know of two or three places - in the world - that we would say could match it. Not only are they stunningly beautiful, but the distances are short and the variety endless. Add to that bags of history, culture, world famous whisky distilleries, ancient castles and charming villages and harbours, and you have one of the great sailing holidays. 60 miles out into the Atlantic sits the almost mythical St Kilda, washed by big seas and storms. But every now and again conditions make it possible not just to get there, but anchor for the night and spend a magical day hiking and exploring. If we can add this on to our adventure around the Hebrides, we most certainly will. Two weeks of genuine adventure.

PASSAGE MAKING MASTERCLASS

After achieving the RYA Day Skipper certification or ASA 104, sailors often find themselves not having sailed for quite a while and then stuck in a rut where their skills and confidence have plateaued or become 'rusty'. This can lead to a significant decrease in confidence. Other sailors can find it difficult to take part in more challenging experiences or find opportunities for advanced training. It's easy to find yourself in a cycle of comfortable sailing conditions but never venturing into situations that push your boundaries. This comfort zone becomes a barrier to progression, and without a clear path forward, the excitement of sailing dwindles, causing some to quit sailing altogether.

That's where the Passage Making Masterclass comes in. This course is specifically designed to bridge the gap for sailors who have qualifications like the RYA Day Skipper or ASA 104 and are ready to refresh and develop their skills in more interesting and challenging routes. The course is tailored to go beyond the basics of RYA and ASA training and to help you build real-world skills and experience, learning from professional sailors who run sailing expeditions for a living. You will improve your navigation, weather interpretation, heavy weather sailing strategies, crew management, passage planning and emergency procedures.
